

GRADES K - 2: New Book Recommendations from The Writing Thief

General

 The Writing Thief by Ruth Culham

Using Picture Books to Teach Writing with the Traits K-2 by Culham and Coutu

Bully by Laura Vaccaro Seeger

Ideas

 One Day, The End by Rebecca Kai Dotlich and Fred Koehler

That Is Not a Good Idea by Mo Willems

Hippos Can't Swim and Other Fun Facts by Laura Lyn DiSiena and Hannah Eliot

I Am Small by Emma Dodd

Organization

 The Umbrella by Ingrid & Dieter Schubert

Good News/Bad News by Jeff Mack

Are We There Yet? by Dan Santat

The End (Almost) by Jim Benton

Voice

 Thunder Boy, Jr. by Sherman Alexie

Please, Mr. Panda by Steve Antony

Beautiful Oops by Barney Salzberg

Rain by Linda Ashman

Word Choice

 Maybe Something Beautiful by Isabel Campoy

My Dog Is as Dirty as Smelly Socks by Hanoch Piven

A Leaf Can Be... by Laura Purdie Salas

Last Stop On Market Street by Matt De La Peña

Sentence Fluency

 Shh! We Have a Plan by Chris Haughton

Swirl by Swirl: Spirals in Nature by Joyce Sidman

Maybe Something Beautiful by Isabel Campoy

Beyond the Pond by Joseph Kuefler

Conventions

 The Exclamation Mark by Amy Krouse Rosenthal

Silent Letters Loud and Clear by Robin Pulver

The Case of the Incapacitated Capitals by Robin Pulver

Happy Endings: A Story About Suffixes by Robin Pulver

*The Writing Thief reserves the right to fall in love with new books and replace these titles whenever she feels like it! But, every one of these books is a winner. There is a similar list for grades 3 - 5 posted as well. Both lists are worth checking out regardless of the grade level you teach.

The Culham Writing Company